

ENGLISH

Cynthia Nearman, Department of English and Creative Writing

The English minor involves principally the study of literature, a form of art through which humankind has constantly struggled to express verbally the central concerns of the human condition as understood in each age. English minors at Guilford study the literatures of the English-speaking world, primarily focusing on traditional and non-traditional American and British writers. Courses in literatures in translation are also offered..

The minor in English is not available to English and Media Studies majors.
