

HISTORY MAJOR

Bachelor of Arts Degree in History

The major requires a minimum of 32 credit hours. No more than 8 credits may be at the 100 level. One must be at the 300 level, and students must take HIST 401 History Workshop and HIST 402 History Capstone. The remainder of the courses may be at the 200 or 300 level. An Historical Perspectives course taught by the Department of History faculty counts toward the major requirements. Students may choose an area of historical specialization but must take at least one course in each of the following three geographical areas: United States, Europe and non-Western (e.g., Asia, Africa or Latin America). In addition, they must take one course focusing on history before 1800 and one course focusing on history after 1800, in order to ensure a breadth of chronological knowledge.

The capstone sequence for the major is HIST 401 and HIST 402, recommended to be taken in the junior year, particularly for students planning to complete a two-semester thesis. Both courses are required of all students majoring in history. History Workshop is generally taught in the fall semester. The Capstone is generally taught in the spring semester. Enrollment in History Workshop is limited to junior or senior history majors or minors who have taken a Historical Perspectives course. Students must successfully complete HIST 401 History Workshop, and at least two courses at or above the 200 level prior to taking the Capstone. It is strongly advised to take a history course at the 300 level prior to taking the Capstone course. To develop their understanding of how historical knowledge relates to other academic disciplines, students may take one course taught by a faculty member outside the Department of History, provided that the course has been approved for the major by the department in advance.
